About this edition

Impact & Projects Observatory

Evidence-led reporting for initiatives at different stages of development.

This revised reference explains the Council's public operating approach as of 4 November 2026. It is not a legal amendment, appointment instrument, government accreditation, audit certification, or a replacement for an independently authenticated source. Earlier digitally signed files remain available as historical editions.

SECTION 01

What the observatory records

MYCDIC initiatives can be planned, piloted, active, paused or concluded. The observatory should make these distinctions visible and record credible evidence without turning proposed targets into reported results.

- Every initiative should identify a sponsor, delivery lead, objective and reporting period.
- Use a consistent status with an as-of date.
- Separate intended beneficiaries from people actually served.

SECTION 02

Measures with a clear basis

An indicator is useful only when its definition and source are clear. Counting an event, a partnership discussion and a completed programme as equivalent achievements would mislead readers.

- Define outputs, outcomes, units, baseline and evidence source.
- Distinguish verified facts from estimates and projections.
- State material limitations, missing data and changed methods.

SECTION 03

Review and publication

Project teams should report periodically. The responsible office reviews the evidence and approves the public wording.

- Keep programme records connected to the institutional project registry.
- Document risks and corrective actions without exposing confidential partner information.
- Withdraw or correct unsupported figures rather than leaving them in circulation.
