About this edition

Journal of Strategic Studies

Editorial independence, authorship accountability and responsible publication.

This revised reference explains the Council's public operating approach as of 4 November 2026. It is not a legal amendment, appointment instrument, government accreditation, audit certification, or a replacement for an independently authenticated source. Earlier digitally signed files remain available as historical editions.

SECTION 01

Editorial scope

The journal aims to provide a forum for analytical work concerning diplomacy, security, public policy, international relations and regional development. Editorial acceptance should depend on relevance, quality and methodological clarity rather than institutional affiliation.

- Define the article type and audience for each call.
- Separate opinion, policy commentary and peer-reviewed research if those categories are offered.
- Do not describe an article as externally peer reviewed unless that procedure occurred.

SECTION 02

Authorship and integrity

Submissions should have a reliable record of authors, contributors, conflicts, sources and any material AI assistance consistent with the journal's editorial policy.

- Require permission for every named author.
- Screen for duplicate submissions, plagiarism and undeclared conflicts.
- Keep referee comments restricted and protect unpublished manuscripts.

SECTION 03

Publication and correction

Every public item should have stable metadata, publication date, author attribution and a correction route.

- Publish clear retraction and correction notices when required.
- Keep published PDF editions traceable when files are replaced.
- Identify the editorial contact and responsible review stage.
