About this edition

Royal Messages Archive

Preservation, attribution and controlled access to publicly available source material.

This revised reference explains the Council's public operating approach as of 4 November 2026. It is not a legal amendment, appointment instrument, government accreditation, audit certification, or a replacement for an independently authenticated source. Earlier digitally signed files remain available as historical editions.

SECTION 01

Scope of the collection

The MYCDIC archive is an access and indexing service for publicly available Royal speeches and messages. The Council is not the issuing authority and its repository reference must not be mistaken for an official act of the Royal Court.

- Identify the original date and source wherever available.
- Keep transcriptions separate from institutional commentary.
- Use clear source attribution and avoid altering original material.

SECTION 02

Preservation and provenance

Repository copies should preserve the original text and page sequence. Any MYCDIC cover or index material should be visibly identified as such.

- Maintain file fingerprints for tamper detection.
- Distinguish the source authority from the repository curator.
- Make correction notes visible when catalogue data changes.

SECTION 03

Public access

The directory should support discovery by date, topic and source without creating the impression that MYCDIC verifies the legal authenticity of the original act.

- Link to the source publication when available.
- Avoid rewriting or translating original royal texts without clearly identifying the edition.
- Keep archival copies separate from newly written institutional briefs.
